Welcome to your August Newsletter, keeping you up to date with all things at Avalon Vets.

Staff News

We have now welcomed our new Animal Care Assistant Alys King to the team. Alys joins us with both reception and animal care experience.

Spotlight on ... Herbal Medicine Clinics

As well as running pain clinics, experienced vet Alison also runs herbal medicine clinics in the practice. Herbal medicine is something that can be used alongside conventional treatments. In particular, these treatments can be helpful to help support the body when dealing with chronic disease. A consultation lasts 30-40 minutes and costs £60. Herbal tinctures cost £15.

If you have questions or think this is something that could benefit your pet, please contact Alison at alison@avalonvet.co.uk.

Pet of the Month – Molly

Molly was seen on 10th July for her annual vaccinations. Our vet Shi Ning examined inside Molly's mouth as part of her check-up and found her cheek teeth to be overgrown. Rabbit teeth grow continually and if they are not worn down when chewing can cause problems.

Molly was admitted for dental treatment on 19th July. Shi Ning anaesthetised Molly and was able to file down some spikes on Molly's lower cheek teeth. If these had been untreated and continued to grow they could have caused trauma to Molly's tongue.

Molly made a fantastic recovery from her dental treatment and is back to her usual self (“a wee scamp” according to her owner)! From now on she will be fed more roughage to try to encourage chewing and normal wear of her teeth.
